

6. Are the data approaches of operations professionals suitable for the data streams coming from emerging modes?

There could be some improvements to address gaps

I don't think so.

Cell phone metadata is being used to better guide our decisions